

The Right Track

People with a learning disability supporting each other to find information and advice

We are very informal - you don't need to make an appointment.

We will meet you at drop-in sessions across Luton and Bedfordshire and talk about the information you need and who can help you.

We can't give advice, but we can put you on the right track to people who can help

The Learning Skills Network has funded us for the first year. We will make sure people with a learning disability have control of the work and support people to do more for themselves by:

Contacting community organisations and finding out how they can help people with a learning disability

Telling people about advocacy and self-advocacy

Learning from other organisations led by people who use services

Working with social work teams

Linking with local universities to support social work students to work with us and being involved in all parts of their learning
